

Krista A. Fish, MPT

As a physical therapist, Krista Fish uses manual therapy techniques to facilitate recovery rather than "fix the patient". Her continuing education has consisted of visceral and neural manipulation. Krista has a special interest in treating spine patients with focus on identifying the root problem rather than just treating the patient's symptoms to allow the patient to achieve optimal health. In her free time, Krista enjoys spending time with her husband and three children.

